This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE

Since 1853 no complete catalogue of the Yale chapter of Phi Beta Kappa has been issued. The catalogue of 1898 covered only the period 1853 to 1898, hence the present active members of the Society felt that much service could be rendered to the college by the publication of a complete catalogue of the chapter since its foundation, in 1780, as authentic as possible with the records at hand.

The chief purpose of the catalogue is, however, to unite the graduate and undergraduate members of Phi Beta Kappa; to strengthen the common feeling of the society in order to add to the strength of Yale. Phi Beta Kappa at once typifies the fundamental idea of all colleges—scholarship; scholarship not as an adornment, but as a useful tool which fashions the welfare of civilization. The key denotes ability and manly principles, to which the long list of famous members from this chapter testifies. With such an ideal Phi Beta Kappa has long been a big factor in Yale spirit and Yale life. To make it remain so, demands the united interest of all members.

Undoubtedly many mistakes still remain in this catalogue. The record of members before the class of '53 is especially imperfect. But we have searched all available material and tried to acquire information from every possible source. If errors are discovered by any one, we will be very glad to receive the information, so that note may be made for the benefit of future catalogue committees.

Since the foundation of the chapter, on November 13, 1780, a total of 3,271 men from this chapter have worn the key, of whom 41 were honorary members, not graduates of Yale. Honorary members who graduated at Yale are put under their respective classes. Honorary members not graduates of Yale are put in a separate list at the end of the catalogue. There are 1,343 living members, including the members-elect from the class of 1906.

The present address, so far as known, of each living member follows his name. Previous to 1853 the addresses opposite the name of deceased members shows where they last dwelt, while the place of birth is given, so far as our information extends. m = married. Only main occupations and important official positions are given.

We are deeply indebted to Dr. Hollon A. Farr for advice, assistance and friendly co-operation; also to Prof. Edward B. Reed, who has written the following article for this catalogue.

THE INTERESTS OF PHI BETA KAPPA

During the last quarter of the century just ended, Yale student life has undergone many changes, and considering the conservatism of the undergraduate, these charges are remarkable ones. Old college customs and traditions have been cast aside as outworn and harmful in their tendencies. New manners and institutions have come into being and won the support of the men who make Yale life what it is to-day. With all these changes, the Society of Phi Beta Kappa is undergoing a transformation, and this catalogue is only one of many evidences that our organization has before it a new life and a new opportunity.

For many years the Society has had but a nominal existence. The members met to elect officers, and at the Annual Banquet welcomed the initiates to an historic past and an inactive future. Its name was always honored, but membership in it was sought by a small number of men, influenced chiefly by Yale tradition. To trace the revival of interest in the Society as an active body and the definite measures that have been taken to make it a vital part of Yale life would be an interesting task. It is more profitable to use this opportunity to point out what may be done in the future to further the interests of the Yale Chapter.

The undergraduates have the task of enlisting the best men in college in our ranks. A society at Yale is judged, not by its house, not by its wealth, but by the quality of its members. To make the meetings of Phi Beta Kappa attractive, to bring to its rooms a carefully picked body of men, is the work of each Senior class. This is not an impossibility. Men who are capable of winning an election and whose presence would add strength to the membership, fail of an election for the want of encouragement and advice. A campaign committee, acting in a dignified manner, calling attention to the purposes and ideals of the Society, could do a work that would be lasting.

The graduate members have opportunity to aid the Society in many ways. Its rooms should be made attractive by gifts of books and especially by memorabilia of Yale's leaders in scholarship. The presence of Alumni members at the meetings and initiations, the revival of a public session of the Society, a reunion of its members, would do much to arouse in the college world an appreciation of what Phi Beta Kappa stands for in intellectual achievement.

It may be safely asserted that in its purposes and opportunities no Society is so typical of Yale as is Phi Beta Kappa. In its elections it is beyond reproach. A man earns by his own efforts the badge of membership. In its purposes it seeks for Truth and Light. It is not merely as members of the Society, but as sons of Yale, that the officers of Phi Beta Kappa ask for support. To awaken an esprit de corps, call out new plans for the future is the purpose of this catalogue. No effort is too great, no labor is too arduous, if it accomplishes what all desire—the enriching and the ennobling of the intellectual life of the University.

THE YALE CHAPTER OF PHI BETA KAPPA

PREAMBLE.

WHEREAS it is necessary for the existence and especially for the happiness of every society, as well literary as political, that it should be governed by some known and established regulations, therefore these articles are adopted and declared to be the Constitution and laws of this Society, and shall remain in force until the same be expressly repealed.

ARTICLE I.

Name and Object.

SECTION 1. This Society is one of the co-ordinate branches of the body known as The United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and is the Alpha Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society in Connecticut.

SEC. 2. The object of this Society is to promote higher scholarship in Yale College and friendship among its members.

ARTICLE II.

Membership.

SECTION 1. This Society shall elect to membership all those who have attained a Philosophical Oration stand in the work of Freshman and Sophomore years, together with as many of those, taken in order of their standing, who have attained a High Oration Appointment as will bring the membership up to (30) thirty.

SEC. 2. The Society shall elect to membership those who for Sophomore and Junior years alone have maintained a stand of 3.20 on the scale of 4.00, but with the following provisions:

First, that such men shall have entered with their class at the beginning of Freshman year.

Second, that by reason of illness or other equally unavoidable cause, the Society reserving the right to pass judgment on the validity of such cause, they shall have been prevented from maintaining a stand in Freshman year proportionate to their ability.

SEC. 3. The Society shall elect to membership all those who at the end of Senior year shall have attained a Philosophical Oration stand on the work of Junior and Senior years.

SEC. 4. The Society shall elect to membership those who for Senior year alone shall have maintained an average stand of 3.50, provided such students are not graduates from an institution having a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

SEC. 5. The Society shall not be obliged to elect to membership any person who shall be proved to have employed unfair means to obtain his stand in scholarship, or who is otherwise objectionable to the Society; a (4-5) four-fifths vote of the entire Society being necessary to refuse such election; and for like reasons upon a (4-5) four-fifths vote of the entire membership, the Society may expel a member.

SEC. 6. The Society by a (3-4) three-fourths vote may elect as honorary members such persons of distinguished scholarship, not undergraduates, as it may deem worthy.

ARTICLE III.

Undergraduate Officers.

SECTION 1. For the administration of the laws and exercises of the Society a President, Vice-President, Secretary, Assistant-Treasurer and Executive Committee of three members shall be elected by ballot at the Annual Meeting of the Society.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the President to maintain order at the meetings of the Society and to convene the members on special occasions.

The Vice-President shall perform the same duties in case of the absence, resignation, or inability of the President. Whenever both happen to be absent, a President pro tempore shall be elected.

It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep the minutes and records of the Society and a list of its members; to call the roll and at every meeting to read the minutes of the preceding meeting.

It shall be the duty of the Assistant-Treasurer to collect dues, to procure accommodations, to keep the full accounts of the Society and at the end of his term of office to make a report to the Graduate Treasurer and transfer to him any balance of the funds of the Society in his possession.

The Executive Committee shall elect its own Chairman and shall make all arrangements for the public lectures.

ARTICLE IV.

Graduate Officers.

SECTION 1. A general meeting of the Society shall be called in February before each meeting of the National Council to elect the following graduate officers: A President, Vice-President, Corresponding Secretary and Treasurer to represent the Society in its relations with the National Council.

SEC. 2. The duties of the Graduate Committee shall be as follows:

They shall have control of the Society rooms.

They shall advise with the Executive Committee regarding lectures and entertainments.

They shall be consulted regarding any change or changes in the Constitution.

They shall have control of the Graduate Phi Beta Kappa Fund, said fund to be for the printing of catalogues, the expenses of delegates to the National Council and other necessary Graduate expenses. Further, the Treasurer's accounts shall be audited once a year by the President of the Graduate Committee.

ARTICLE V.

Meetings.

SECTION 1. The regular literary meetings shall be held on the evenings of the first Wednesday of each month at 7.30, unless voted otherwise by the Society or by other articles in this Constitution.

It is the intention of the Society that the general business shall not be transacted at the regular meetings, but at special meetings called by the President.

SEC. 2. The annual meeting for the election of officers shall be held at the regular May meeting. The Senior President shall preside, and all officers must then be elected from the Junior class.

At this meeting Seniors shall have no vote.

All officers elected at the annual meeting shall not go into office until the first term of Senior year.

SEC. 3. The Anniversary shall take the place of the regular December meeting and shall be held on December fifth, or, if that date fall on a Sunday, on December sixth. It shall commemorate with appropriate exercises the date of the founding of the Society.

SEC. 4. The Juniors shall be formally elected at a special meeting in February of each year.

SEC. 5. The annual Phi Beta Kappa banquet, at which the Junior candidates for membership are to be formally initiated, shall be held during the last week in March.

SEC. 6. There shall be a special meeting of the Senior members during Commencement week to elect members from the Senior class.

SEC. 7. At the written request of three members, the President shall call a meeting of the Society.

ARTICLE VI.

Exercises.

SECTION 1. The exercises of the regular meetings shall consist of an informal lecture, of a debate or of general literary exercises. All arrangements for these exercises shall be left to the discretion of the Executive Committee.

ARTICLE VII.

Public Lectures.

SECTION 1. There shall be several public lectures given during the year.

ARTICLE VIII.

Amendments.

SECTION 1. This Constitution may be amended by a (4-5) four-fifths vote of the entire Society, taken by ballot, but every amendment must be made in writing, be laid on the table at least one week before final action is taken; be presented to the Graduate Committee accompanied by a verbatim copy of this article of the Constitution, and meet with the written approval of the entire Graduate Committee.

BY-LAWS.

ARTICLE I.

One-third of the entire membership of the Society shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

ARTICLE II.

The expenses of the lectures shall be met by the active members of the Society, and all dues and assessments shall be determined by the Society.

ARTICLE III.

The costs of the banquet shall be defrayed by the incoming members from the Junior class.

ARTICLE IV.

The Banquet Committee shall consist of the Secretary, the Assistant-Treasurer and a third member of the Society chosen by the aforesaid members of the committee.

ARTICLE V.

Any member immediately after his admission and the payment of his dues may wear one of the recognized Keys of the Society.

ARTICLE VI.

The initiation shall be conducted in the society rooms according to formula. The initiation shall be formally completed at the banquet, when the candidates shall signify their assent by rising in their places and listening to a Latin address of welcome. After this the symbols on the Key shall be explained.

ARTICLE VII.

Roberts shall be the authority on all points of order not provided for in this Constitution.

ARTICLE VIII.

These By-Laws may be amended by a vote of (2-3) two-thirds of those present at a regular business meeting of the Society.
